Palerra LORIC Cloud Security framework
Palerra LORIC (acquired by Oracle in 2016) is a SAAS product that provides threat detection, predictive analytics, security configuration management and automated incident response and remediation into a single solution for cloud applications.
Achievements:
○ Contributed to the backend data ingestion and data processing framework from cloud applications like AWS (CloudTrail), Box and Salesforce.
○ Contributed to the automation framework using the native cloud application's REST API. This enabled users to apply recommended security settings on their cloud apps directly through LORIC.
○ Contributed to the LORIC Java REST API used by the front-end to query relevant information from the NoSQL dababase (Cassandra) and populate the dashboards.
○ Improved the framework through code optimization, critical bug fixing and implementing requested feature.

TNPM Product Engg India Pune SEZ
Test and Benchmark in-memory, distributed and open-source databases as a replacement for Oracle Database to reduce the cost and improve performance (i.e. latency due to data aggregation) of drill down analysis of time-series data. After a preliminary feature comparison and benchmarking KairosDB, an open-source database, was selected as a replacement.
Achievements:
○ Performed a detailed feature to feature comparison of the in-memory databases, in-memory data grids, columnar databases and time-series databases.
○ Validated and rejected certain claims made by the different products.
○ Contributed to the testing and benchmarking framework.
